Digital signage integrated with home automation

Remote management of the entire installation via tablets.

For this project, a home automation system has been installed to control different devices: screens, loudspeakers and projectors.

These are located in different areas of the offices of the Royal Spanish Tennis Federation complex.

In addition, a Sonat Sounds music ambience system has been installed throughout the building, which differentiates its musical strategy into 3 zones: work, multi-purpose room and video wall. This segmentation allows to have musical concepts according to zones and control it through the tablet.

Our WAAPITI platform is also used to manage the audiovisual content that is played in the different media.

What do we achieve?

Absolute and integrated control of what is happening at any given moment from any authorised device and greater coherence throughout the space.
